TSF provides unprecedented access to NATO

16 Apr 12 | By David Hennessy

Commercial, Off-the-Shelf Technology Defence-focussed modelling and simulation increasing pressure on budgets, and a new technology, it makes sense to try to align with defence procurements.

By assessing the potential benefits of those which have the greatest near term knowledge and improve understanding, described, developed and applied to n

There is a perceived strategy gap in this area, with much of the c national imperatives. This can lead to multiple solutions to the sa causing confusion.

The efficient operation of NATO depends to a large extent on inte to share experiences, understand best practices, identify barriers
